With F.M.L.

Knowing they are human, I still believe in heroes.

It is still true that some men are stronger, smarter, braver, truer than contemporaries. It is historians and doctrinaires who do them in.

Historians make comparisons and raise achievements to heroic heights which only, sometime along the way, are matched or exceeded by later generations, which is as it should be.

And the doctrinaires who disagree with the purity of motive and means of accomplishment will fault heroes' stature, mostly because they disagree.

Doctrinaires hold principle higher than man, believing principle in truth unobtainable. And they are right about man, even the great one.

But the man lives a life and takes principle into a world of unpredictability depends on his humanity as well as higher qualities of mind and instincts of spirit to reach out.

One fellow found George Washington's expense account during the Revolutionary War, duly paid by Congress, was "padding." And if we believe George Washington never told a lie from infancy through the first presidency, that he ever chopped down a cherry tree, as if it mattered, this narrow slicer of life would be right. But he finds Washington to be human, which makes him no less a hero.

If a man were deaf, mute and blind, he might never exaggerate. He would be alive, but capable, like Helen Keller, of whatever hope his remaining senses and intelligence could provide.

Clothes lie about men and women. Hair lies about youth. Cars lie about people's financial condition. So do houses. Expense accounts exaggerate. College educations mislead, particularly those who then think they are educated. Church attendance is only part of that story. Wisdom belies elders. Children are not all innocence. A woman's hand pointing from the window of the driver's side, one wag says, only means the window is open. The sum, the sum of all man is and does and says is what counts.

Only he knows the whole story, a "stream of consciousness" thing, and if he is modest in the telling rather than bold, his silence gives the lie as well.

Even then such best of intentions mislead. And these best of intentions can be basis of judgment of what a man is and does.

Any wonder historians now stay mostly with peoples and cultures and movements and see leaders indigenous of a whole movement and, in turn, give qualities to the man which are apparent in the mass.

Doctrinaires and historians would be fortunate if they somehow could get inside a man's head, even though they read what he writes and they hear what he says through witnesses. Such "inside" research may be possible one day with electroencephalographs and analysis and chemical genes and whatever next pours from the text tube and computers and gray matter of science.

And if we learned basic motives which energize the finest of minds and most energetic of men in the noblest of undertakings, we might know with certainty who, on a scale from one to 10, rates where in man's heroics.

But judging him, the hero, like judging him, the contemporary, less than heroic and jealous in comparison and able to turn events against this best of men, is not only impossible, but unfair.

The historian and doctrinaire must stand askance and judge themselves. For that is all any man is capable of in looking upon heroes. Or other men.

LL Association Calls Meeting To Plan New Field

The Cameron Little League Association has called a meeting for all parents, managers, and other interested persons to discuss plans for a new ball field.

The meeting starts at 7 p.m. Thursday (tonight) in the Citizens National Bank community room.

Billy Horning, LL president, said this is not an organizational meeting for players.

"We need to get started on plans for building another ball field because we've outgrown the present one," Horning said. He added that the new field will be built in the north corner of the Cameron Airport land.

Horning said 171 boys were registered in the city's summer baseball program last year and the increased number of teams is outgrowing the present field.

In addition to the regular minor, little, and pony leagues, girls softball teams started organizing last year, making for an even tighter scheduling of games.

Weekend Law-Breakers Keep City Police Busy

Cameron Police Department was kept busy over the weekend with arrests and charges for a variety of offenses.

The report included:
Two men from Rockdale charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor;

One minor in possession;

Seven consuming alcoholic beverages after prohibited hours;

One making alcoholic beverage available to minors (transferred to County Court);

One prohibited weapon;

One affray -- two charged;

Several drunks; and several driving while intoxicated (transferred to County Court).

Milano Given $2,000 Grant

Milano Volunteer Fire Department will receive a $2,000 donation from Milam County Commissioners toward purchase of a new fire truck.

Commissioners voted last Thursday to donate $1,000 from the Precinct 3 Road and Bridge Fund and $1,000 from the General Fund towards purchase of the fire truck for Milano.

Builders, Non-Profit Groups Can Help Provide FHA Housing

(Continuing a series on programs available to individuals and organizations for relieving the wide-spread housing problem. This week, Henry Ivey, Milam County supervisor for Farmers Home Administration, outlines some current programs.)

Under a current program, the Farmers Home Administration can issue conditional commitments agreeing to finance new or substantially rehabilitated homes for as many as 15 families at a time.

With the conditional commitment, builders can proceed with the construction of up to 15 homes in an area with reasonable assurance that financing will be available to qualified purchasers.

Contractors, developers and realtors are being called on to engage in a stepped up program to improve low and moderate cost housing in rural America.

This is one step in the efforts of Farmers Home Administration to eliminate the many housing inadequacies that plague rural people.

During fiscal year 1970, Farmers Home Administration in Texas distributed $117,434,900 in loans to rural Texans or 7.1% of the national total which was $1,639,748,570.

The $117,434,900 was distributed through 11,155 loans which represents 7.5% of all loans made throughout the United States. "Without a doubt we feel Texas would have made over 10% of the loans had the money been available," Ivey said.

HOMESITE DEVELOPMENT

Another new program has been developed by Farmers Home Administration to alleviate the rural housing problem and this is the homesite development loan.

Under this program, loans can now be made to local public agencies and private nonprofit organizations to buy and develop land as homesites for sale to rural families of low and moderate income.

The new program will enable rural communities to ease their problem of homesite development, either through their local public agencies or through private nonprofit organizations devoted to that purpose.

This plan authorizes lending up to $100,000 to qualified groups to buy and develop tracts to be sold as homesites within two years. Applicants for the sites must qualify under low or moderate income guidelines of the USDA or the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sites thus developed can be used for individual family owned homes or for rental or cooperative housing.

CO-OP PROGRAM

Another giant step recently taken by Farmers Home Administration to improve and expand its housing loan service to rural residents, is the packaging of rural housing loans through a cooperative effort with private industry, that is, trade associations. These include home builders, manufacturers, real estate brokers, lumber and building material dealers and others.

Persons building homes in communities of up to 5500 population may now work directly with potential purchasers, using forms made available by county Farmers Home Administration offices.

Meetings were held throughout the state with lumbermen's associations, concerning the development of the package deal and new booklets giving detailed instructions for packaging applications for rural housing loans have been distributed to contractors and lumber and material dealers.

All required information and completed forms will be submitted to the appropriate county supervisor by the packager and it is emphasized that final determination on making of loans will be made by the county FHA personnel, Ivey said.

PROUD MOMENT FOR FATHER AND SON - Johnny Bailey, senior linebacker for Yoe, receives the Quarterback Club Trophy from his father, Booster Club President Ben Bailey. The coveted award has been presented to a Yoeman each year since 1959 for "Outstanding Achievement - Football - Scholarships - Citizenship." The award was one of the highlights of Monday night's Yoeman Football Banquet. The 1970 Football Sweetheart, Gail Jeter, is pictured on page 6.

Johnny Bailey Wins 1970 Yoeman Trophy

Johnny Bailey was named winner of the Quarterback Club Trophy as outstanding Yoeman of 1970 and Gail Jeter was named Football Sweetheart at the Yoeman Banquet Monday night.

Booster Club President Ben Hardie Bailey presented the trophy to his son.

A capacity crowd filled Methodist Fellowship Hall for the annual banquet honoring Yoe High athletes. Guest speaker was Pat Culpepper, coach at Baylor University.

B. L. Miller was cited as "Booster of the Year" for his efforts in promoting club projects. Plaques were presented to Miller and to Bailey for his service as president.

Yoemen were introduced by Coaches Price Minter, freshmen; Ernie Laurence, junior varsity; and Ron Murdock, Minter and Laurence, varsity. Head coach Hal Stanislaw introduced managers and presented certificates to all-district players:

Johnny Bailey, Dale Schigut, Norman Trubee, Jerry Richardson, Robert Brashers, Edward Whitley, and Sam Knight. Bailey was also cited for achieving all-Cen Tex honors.

Honorable mention honors went to Ken McLerran, Mike Zajicek, Carroll Michalka, Joe Lewis, and Richard Cummings.

Coach Culpepper urged his young audience to "learn to make sacrifices today in order to have a tomorrow. . . nothing is worthwhile if it is too easy to achieve. . ."

He emphasized that one element of youth currently receiving publicity for rebellious actions "tell us we're wrong when we tell students what to do -- in other words, enforce discipline. . . Our heritage is too precious to throw away. . . it goes back to people who were willing to sacrifice their lives for each other and for something worthwhile -- a tomorrow. . ."

Discipline in schools' athletic programs is important, Culpepper said, especially now. "For example, a math teacher can't grab a kid by the collar and say, 'you're loafing' or 'you're trying to be a quitter'. Teachers are handicapped," he said.

City To See 'Cameron, '90' Plan In May

Completion of Cameron's 20-year comprehensive plan is expected by May, William Falkner, South/West Planning Associates project director told the city council Tuesday night.

Falkner discussed the preliminary plan report which had been submitted for council study prior to Tuesday's council meeting. He also showed a large map illustrating proposals of the preliminary plan.

The map is on display at City Hall for study and viewing by the public. A final map will be included with the completed general plan in May.

The preliminary plan, the report stated, is a summary of the information, analyses, and recommendations which have been formulated during the past several months as various components of Cameron's planning process have been nearing completion.

Elements of the plan include land use, transportation, housing, community facilities, utilities, etc.

The planning consultants will be ready to provide the final draft of the preliminary plan in March, when 50 copies will be distributed to city officials, civic organizations, and placed in locations such as the library, for access and study by the public.

Falkner again emphasized to the council that Cameron "cannot afford to sanction the Texas Highway Department's proposed bypass route of SH 36" which would start at the intersection of that highway and US 77 southeast of the city.

The consulting firm's proposal calls for the bypass intersection to be constructed on the city side of Little River.

Falkner also cautioned councilmen about possible encroachment of the bypass into Wilson Ledbetter Park.

In other business, the council authorized City Works Supt. Alvin Heftt to install water lines in the new addition to Oak Hill Cemetery.

Council also okayed repainting stripes for street parking spaces and traffic guides on Fannin St.

Meeting Tonight To Discuss FHA Housing Loans

There will be a meeting on Rural Housing Loans, on Thursday (tonight) February 18, 7:30 p.m., in the Progressive Church Center in Cameron, 1000 West 6th Street.

Local supervisors from the Farmers Home Administration will discuss this program in detail.

This meeting is sponsored by the Cameron Welfare Council in the interest of improved housing for Cameron residents, according to Lewis Johnson, president of the Council.

Mayor E. A. Perrin reported that start of paving on 20th St. had been awaiting installation of curb and gutter, and that the work should start this week.

Council approved recommendation of the zoning adjustment board to allow a resident to enlarge his home, and approved a request from Dr. John Varde-man of Rosebud to rent plane parking space at City Airpark, pending his acceptance of the city's lease terms.

City Secy. J. P. Fuller was authorized to discontinue sending in night watchman clock reports to the State Board of Insurance, following notification that the city is not receiving credit for the reports. The State Board gives credit for twonight watchmen and three clocks, and Cameron has one watchmen and two clocks.

Routine department head reports and bills were approved.

Rubella Clinic Held Today At Health Unit

Parents are reminded that rubella (German measles) immunizations are being given today, Feb. 18, and on two other dates in the county for children who missed the December immunization clinics.

The make-up clinic in Cameron is being held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Feb. 18 at the Milam County Health Unit at 209 S. Houston.

Other clinics will be Feb. 23 in Thorndale from 9 a.m. until noon; and March 2 in Rockdale from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The immunization is free.

Dr. C. G. Swift, co-chairman of the county project for the Milam County Medical Society, said about 450 children did not receive the rubella immunization in December.

Immunization to the mild childhood disease is a nationwide project to protect expectant mothers from the effects of rubella on unborn children. Medical authorities have found that when expectant mothers contract rubella, in 90 per cent of the cases the baby is born with crippling defects.

Back To Classroom For State Patrolmen

Cameron based Highway Patrolmen returned to the classroom for a 40-hour course in general police work.

Patrolman Wright completed the special training course last week and Patrolman Broadus is attending classes at the Law Enforcement Academy in Austin this week.

Horse Shoer Says 'Times A' Changin'

Alfred Burt needs some horse-shoers to help him on the Salt Grass Trail ride from Brenham to Houston, but there aren't many around these days.

Burt, who operated a horse shoeing business in Cameron about 50 years ago, was in town this week getting ready for the trailride and recalling the days when his shop across from the courthouse would shoe an average of 18 horses a day.

"Ed Slater and I had three people working full time shoeing horses back in the '20's and we had five who worked on weekends. There was a livery stable where the McLane building is now and all the businesses had horse-drawn wagons to make deliveries. I guess there were about seven horse shoeing shops in Cameron then," he recalled.

Not just an average horse-shoer, Burt holds the nation's record for shoeing speed. He registered an unofficial record time of 2 minutes to shoe one hoof with timekeepers John Horton and Ben Hill as witnesses.

"I did one horse, all four shoes, in five minutes, but I can't count that as record," Burt said. "I had a witness, but no official time keepers."

Burt says he has been shoeing horses longer than anyone in Houston. "But times have changed." He has a shop in Houston, but most of his work is done elsewhere. "They used to bring the horses to the shop, now mostly I go to where the horses are."

He will be making his sixth ride with the Salt Grass Trail group to the Houston Livestock Show this year.

Burt, who is 79 years old, has been shoeing horses since he was 18. He once was offered a job by a western cowboy actor, Jack Hoxie.

"He had a ranch in Oklahoma and horses that they used in the movies. Sometimes I watch the western shows and see all those horses, I wonder why I didn't take that job. A man could stay busy all his life taking care of them."

Thefts Of Auto Stereos, Tape Decks On Increase

DALLAS "Music hath charm to soothe the savage beast," so the old saying goes - and the music from automobile stereo systems seems to charm many thieves judging from the constant increase in thefts of auto tape decks and tapes over the past few years. Whether the motivation is the charm of the music or the charm of high profits, thefts of auto tape decks and stereo tapes cost insurance companies some $40 million in paid claims in 1969, the last year for which figures are available. And the trend of this type of thievery is definitely upward. While it's difficult not to feel sorry for someone who wakes up to discover his traveling symphony missing, the Insurance Information Institute points out that many music loving motorists have been unwitting accomplices to the theft of their own property. Stereo devotees spend about $400 million annually for recorders, and even more than that for tapes, the Institute said. And a thief needs only three to five minutes to get his "share" of this prized equipment -- especially when the motorist is cooperative. Leaving a car unlocked and in a dark or unguarded area is an open invitation to a fellow with larceny on his mind. And stereo tapes lying on car seats are dead giveaways to a car window shopper looking for an easy theft. The Institute advises motorists to get in the habit of locking their parked cars. When tapes are not in use, store them in the glove compartment and lock it too. It's a good idea, too, to mark tape players and tapes and record the markings. They can serve as inanimate fingerprints when identity needs to be established.

To Be Fully Run....

Cameron school trustees voted to approve annexation part of Milam School District last week. This follows approval of a consolidation in CISD last fall for all of Milam District and a turn-down by Milam.

This effort will affect an area of a northwest portion of the Milam district. This is the area whose residents signed the original petition for a vote in both districts to consolidate.

Milam School Board will decide how the annexation will proceed. No additional vote is necessary, officials advise.

We see this as pattern for the rest of the rural districts in Milam County. Only a few remain and they certainly are studying where they shall soon be.

Alternatives should be forthcoming from Milam County and the large independent districts, in the vein of what CISD leaders have been trying. To continue small districts under Class A size, unless only a grade school and only then in exceptional circumstances, is an avoidable travesty for students going to the office, to technology, even on the farm, and to the factory.

Milam County fast heads for the modern era in education, where we are making good starts, but where the race is yet to be fully run.

When People Want It...

Does the Congress work, despite some of the anachronistic traditions?

Yes, said retiring U. S. Senator John J. Williams, of Delaware, often called the "conscience of the Senate" after four terms.

Said the Senator recently to the National Observer:

"Yes, no question about it. Of course, a dictatorship is the most efficient form of government. But who wants it? I wouldn't want to have a President that had the power to move at will, whether I agreed with him or not. Now, the President can suggest things and we can delay it or we can kill it.

"But there's always another Congress coming. I've been here 24 years. And I've seen bills delayed that were supposed to hold life or death for the country. But I've never seen a piece of legislation yet that was kept off the books when the people wanted it. It may be a year or two later, but it always comes to pass."

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

WOULD MAKE POSTAL EMPLOYEES 'BOOKIES'

REP. L. C. WYMAN (N.H.) "This country is operating at a deficit that increases every year. There are not enough revenues to finance the public's need for additional governmental programs and services. The need for additional revenue is urgent at this hour lest the fires of inflation be further fed by more and more short-term borrowing.

"To have new programs and to meet these deficits we need new sources of revenue. One source that people would contribute to with a smile would be a national numbers drawing and I am today introducing a bill to establish a national commission to conduct such national drawings every 30 days or more frequently as this becomes possible through electronic equipment and technology.

"No longer can it be said with even a scintilla of credibility that national numbers drawing is immoral or offends the public conscience. Honestly and efficiently conducted it can contribute millions to fighting crime and helping social programs.

"People are playing the numbers in the United States to the tune of billions of dollars each year. Most of this is Mafia, the Cosa Nostra, or the gambling czars."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Two groups will oppose Rep. Wyman's bill. Those opposed to gambling in any form and the Mafia who find any kind of competition painful. - J.C.

Legislators Move To Hold Down Size Of Tax Bill

By Vern Sanford

Legislators have cleared major emergency finance hurdles and are moving to other fronts to hold down the size of the tax bill.

A $34.9 million appropriation bill to avert reduction in aid to needy families with dependent children passed both houses and went to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert for certification.

Before he would accept the bill, Calvert advised passage of another which would re-align priorities in the state's massive omnibus tax clearance fund. In effect, this would permit turning over to welfare some $35 million that normally would go to the teacher retirement fund between April and August.

Teachers association and retirement fund leaders had no formal objection to the latter, although it would cost the retirement fund an estimated $100,000 to $600,000 in short-term interest. However, the fund will be repaid in full when the ultimate new tax bill goes into effect on September 1.

While these measures were moving methodically through the House and Senate, the House passed a bill to establish a $185 million bond plan to finance construction on eight new college campuses. Bonds would be repaid from tuitions, and would cost taxpayers little. Final approval of the plan in the Senate would relieve the tax bill of a heavy load in order to build new institutions already authorized by the 1969 Legislature.

Still another potentially important money bill won quick Senate approval. It would require all cities and counties, population 10,000 and above, to report to the state all welfare spending for the medically needy. If federal officials will agree, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes proposes subsequent legislation to require all these local funds be routed through the state treasury, where hopefully they would attract an extra $100 million in two-to-one matching federal aid.

"PEOPLE'S LOBBY" FORMS

A new liberal group -- including representatives of labor, ethnic and environmental interests -- has organized an "issues-oriented" people's lobby.

About 300 attended the organizational meeting. Former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark were the main speakers.

Congressman Bob Eckhardt of Houston was named temporary chairman and State Sens. Barbara Jordan of Houston and Joe Bernal of San Antonio, temporary vice-chairmen. Twelve steering committee members were chosen to work with them.

By a divided vote, the group decided to steer clear of candidate endorsements (although there was plenty of speculation at the meeting that Yarborough may run for governor in 1972) and concentrate on specific legislative goals.

COURTS SPEAK

Houston's Kirkwood Civic Club, which insures enforcement of deed restrictions and sponsors lawn beautification contests, is not exempt from the state franchise tax, says the State Supreme Court.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper I picked up off the road near the Johnson grass farm yesterday because I thought it was my ecological duty to do it, interest in trips to the moon is lagging, in fact, it said, people are getting bored with them.

I'm afraid this is true because I heard several people around here say they didn't have time to watch the recent landing or the splash-down live. "We can catch it later on the evening news," they said.

This means there's a real crisis in the space program. It's as though a football fan skipped the televised game with the offhand statement he could get the score in tomorrow's paper. We can't let it happen.

To keep the space program going I have figured out two possible solutions.

(1) To keep people glued to their T.V. sets during a moon walk, put on some sort of sports event up there. Alan Shepard's golf antics on the moon attracted more attention than anything else, so why not send up a golf team, or better still two football teams? What quarterback wouldn't love to thrill the fans by throwing a three-mile-long bomb? They could pick up rocks during the half. How about an interplanetary pole vault record of 350 feet? What do you suppose would be the longest home-run hit on the moon? You get the idea. We've got to do something to keep this television series from being canceled.

(2) On a more serious side, as you know, to send the latest team to the moon to get 100 pounds of rocks cost $800,000,000.

That figures out at 8 million dollars a pound. Clearly, moon rocks are the most precious substance man possesses, and rather than turn them over to a bunch of geologists to argue about, why not really utilize them? Why not base our monetary system on them? Why not go off the gold standard and get on a moon-rock standard?

A few more trips and we'd have enough rocks to more than equal all the gold in Fort Knox, with less than one-tenth of one per cent of the storage problem. You could keep the whole lot in two or three suitcases.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Fighting Back

Pacifists speak of turning the other cheek. Does the law call for that kind of forbearance? Or may you, when struck, lawfully strike back?

Generally speaking, you may indeed strike back. Your act of violence is forgiven if it is inflicted in your own protection. Courts often refer to the right of self defense as "a primary law of nature."

But it is a right with very distinct limits. Defending yourself is one thing; escalating the conflict is quite another. Take this case:

Janet and Marge were in love with the same man. During an argument, Janet began pulling Marge's hair. Marge retaliated by grabbing a pistol and shooting Janet in the leg. Could Marge justify her action as self defense?

No, ruled a court, because Marge had used considerably more force than the situation called for. When that happens, as one judge put it:

"The character of the combat is changed. The assaulted becomes the assailant."

Furthermore, the right of self defense lasts only as long as the danger lasts.

Suppose a schoolboy hits a passing pedestrian with a snowball. Could the man chase the boy and give him a thrashing in the name of self defense? No, because the danger is ended. The man's motive would be not to defend himself but to punish the boy.

Of course it may be difficult for the person attacked, in the heat of an encounter, to measure his danger. Therefore, the law usually gives him the benefit of the doubt.

In one case a grocer and his wife, taking home their cash receipts late at night, were accosted by a group of rowdies. When one youth laid hold of his wife, the frightened grocer shot and wounded him.

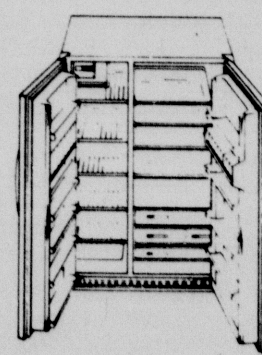

As it turned out, the victim had just wanted to ask for directions. Nevertheless, the grocer was held not liable in court. The judge said self defense may be exercised not only when there is danger but also when there reasonably appears to be danger. And in this case, the danger did seem real.

New Disease Threatens Horses

By J. D. Moore

Encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, has long been a problem for American horsemen; and a relative of this disease from Venezuela may be a threat to this country.

Dr. William Sippel, executive director of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, says that the Venezuelan form of the disease has already been found in Mexico. This would not normally be a problem except that the vaccine for the common strain in this country has no effect on the foreign variety.

Vaccines have not as yet become available in the U.S.

Symptoms of the two varieties are similar. In the early stages, the horse may be paralyzed in muscle groups, such as the face or legs. Later the animal may stand with his head against a tree or wall, says Dr. Sippel.

The afflicted horse may just start walking and go through fences or whatever else is in his path. Finally, the animal will get down and suffer hard convulsions just before death.

As is the case with the common Western or Eastern encephalitis, the foreign strain can attack humans.

Dr. Sippel advises horse owners to watch for the symptoms and report the first suspicious signs to a veterinarian. Samples can then be sent to the Diagnostic Laboratory for proper identification of the problem.

BETTER GRASSES

TAM Wintergreen harding grass is a new perennial winter-growing pasture grass with good summer drought resistance.

It is the first improved perennial winter pasture grass with qualities of persistence necessary for staying several seasons in pastures of the Blackland, Prairies, Grand Prairies, and drier areas of the state.

The main advantages of this grass over winter - growing perennials have been its ability to survive cold weather and summer droughts and produce an abundance of forage acceptable to livestock.

This grass is planted in October in 40 inch rows on a well prepared seedbed at the rate of one pound of seed per acre.

LOCAL TEST PLOTS

Milton Falkner, whose place is just north of the Door Factory, Old Waco Hwy., has an excellent example of how this grass could avoid disaster during times such as we have with local cattle programs.

Klein Grass 75 is another recommended perennial grass badly needed by local stockmen. This grass is a warm-season bunch grass which may be planted in 40 inch rows on a firm seedbed at the rate of two pounds per acre.

Plant after the danger of frost in the spring.

Henry W. Abel, whose place is in the Sharp Community, is using Kleingrass 75 for an excellent cow-calf winter pasture.

B. L. Franke is using a planting of Kleingrass 75 to winter cows in the pasture adjoining the city sanitary land fill west of Cameron.

Further information is available on these grasses at the county agent's office.

TOWN and COUNTRY

Drylot Feeding Suggested As Drouth Measure

Drylot feeding of the cow herd is a possible solution to the problems created by drouth and cold weather, explains Dr. B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University.

Confining cattle and feeding them silage rations with comparable energy levels as pastures can alleviate the nutrient deficiencies and lack of forages as well as the cattle losses that accompany drouth.

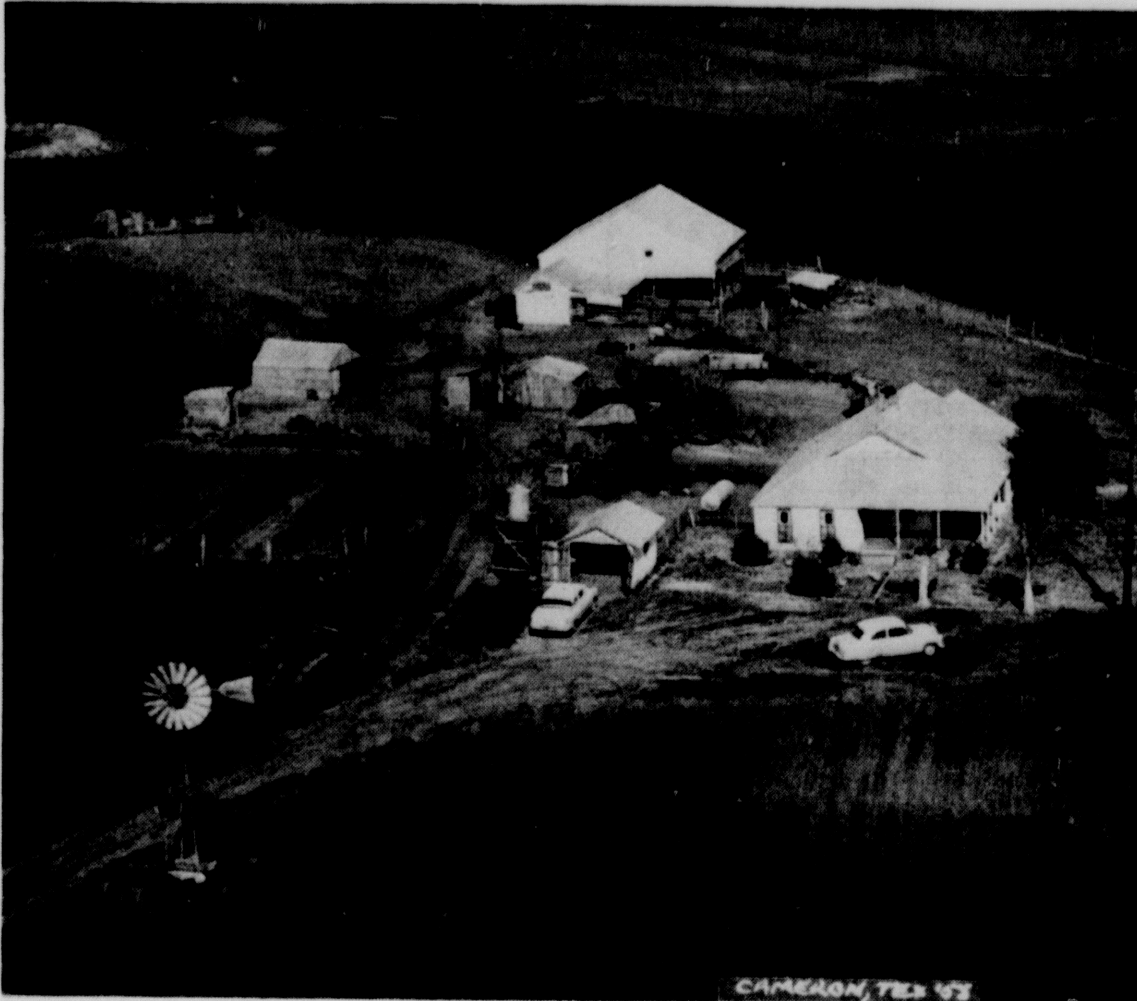

Less energy is required by confined animals and cattle weights can be maintained in drylots.

Rations can vary, but it is necessary to maintain a minimum nutrient and energy level. Vitamins and minerals may not be necessary, although it is a good idea to include them for brief periods.

When the herd is in a drylot, the pastures aren't trampled and the remaining forages can have a chance to recover from the effects of drouth and cold weather.

In early tests, no disease problems were encountered within the confined animals. Hoof and leg problems were minimized by providing an exercise area.

More feed and labor are required to maintain the cattle in drylots but the expenses are more than compensated for by the reduction in cattle disease and losses.

Black Bass

Confused By False Spring

If you're perplexed by recent summery weather, consider the poor male black bass.

When the water warms up to about 59 degrees, he starts clearing a place for a nest and then seeks a female to lay eggs in it.

This has happened to both wild and fish hatchery bass during the past week in Southeast Texas, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Biologist Lonnie Peters.

The spawn normally will not live, as the next prolonged cold snap will drive the male bass away from the nest and leave the eggs unprotected.

Luckily, spawning can be and often is repeated and the chances for successful spawning later in the spring are still good. However, Peters said, a series of alternating warm and cold periods could limit the spawn to the extent that a bass fry shortage could occur in state fish hatcheries for stocking purposes. Fish hatchery personnel try to restrain the hatchery bass from spawning too early by keeping water circulating through the various ponds. The resulting variations in temperature tend to discourage the early spawn.

RAINBOWS IN GUADALUPE

Another 10,000 rainbow trout have been added to the Guadalupe River below Canyon Dam this month, according to Texas P&W Dept. Small spinners, worms and cheese are favored by anglers in catching the rainbows. There is no size limit, but there is a five per day per fisherman bag limit.

SCREWORM SITUATION

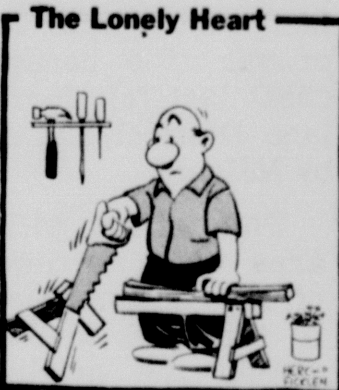

The last confirmed case of screwworms in the Southwest U.S. was in La Salle County, Texas in mid-November but some activity has been noted south of the Rio Grande. While the weather over the past several weeks has not been conducive to their spread, eradication program officials advise livestock producers to continue the checking of all animals and to treat any wounds found. Larvae samples should also be taken from wounds and submitted to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification.

SOIL SAMPLE TIME

Soil samples should be taken now to complete plans for renovating pastures in the weeks and months ahead, remind soil chemists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

WALLEYES THRIVING

Since the Texas P&W Dept. started stocking walleyes in Lake Meredith in 1965, the northern imports have been thriving and doing what biologists had hoped -- eating lots of undesirable fish and furnishing sport for fishermen. Walleyes are also Diverston Reservoir in Archer and Baylor Counties and Franklin Reservoir in Franklin County.

IRS Questions

Q - To have you compute my tax, should I just bring my return into an IRS office?

A - No, the computation is done at the IRS service center for your area when you file your return. The IRS will figure your tax if your income is $20,000 or less and consists only of wages or salaries, and tips, dividends, interest, pensions, and annuities and you choose the standard deduction instead of itemizing deductions.

The IRS will figure both the retirement income credit and your tax for you if you meet the income and deduction requirements. Just follow the instructions at the top of Schedule R. Be sure to attach the necessary schedules and W-2's and sign your return. Further details on this can be found on Page 2 of the 1040 instructions.

Q - My son made over $1,000 last year. Does that mean I'll lose his exemption?

A - The amount of your son's earnings will not change his dependency status if he was either a full-time student during five months of the year or under 19 at year's end. The support and other dependency tests must still be met, however.

Q - Since I was not married until last fall, I was single most of the year. Can I file a joint return?

A - Yes, your marital status for tax purposes is determined by what it was on the last day of your tax year. For example, someone married on the last day of the year is considered married for the entire year.

Q - I've been told I don't have to pay tax on the pay I received while I was out sick. Is that right?

A - You may not be taxed on all or part of your pay received for periods of sickness provided certain conditions are met. Details on how to claim this benefit are given on Form 2440 which may be obtained from any local IRS office.

So summarize the sick pay provisions, if your company paid you more than 75 percent of your regular pay then you must wait 30 days before you can exclude any pay from income. After the waiting period, you may exclude up to $100 a week.

If you received 75 percent or less of your pay there is a 7-day waiting period. Afterwards, you may exclude up to $75 a week. After 30 days you may exclude up to $100 a week. However, if you were hospitalized there is no 7-day waiting period.

Q - I had about $45 in interest last year from several savings accounts. Do I have to list how much I got from each of them?

A - In cases where interest income is $100 or less, just enter the total amount of your interest income on the front of your Form 1040. When interest income is over $100 it has to be itemized by amount and payer and entered on Schedule B.

Q - My tax situation looks so complicated this year that I want to get some paid professional help this year. Where can I get a reliable person to help me?

A - Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association. They will be able to supply you with the names of qualified people.

Avoid any person who "guarantees" you a refund or who suggests that the refund be sent to his address. Also, you should never sign a blank return or one that has been prepared in pencil. Remember, you are legally responsible for every item on your return even though someone else helped you prepare it.

Q - What's the surcharge rate for 1970 income?

A - The income tax surcharge for 1970 is 5% for the first half of 1970 and eliminated altogether for the last half of the year. This means the surcharge is figured at the average rate of 2.5 percent for the whole of 1970. Tables on the surcharge are included with the 1040 instructions.

Q - I had a loss on some shares of stock I sold last year. Is this deductible?

A - Yes, capital losses are deductible and can be used to offset capital gains. In addition, capital losses can be used to offset other income up to a maximum of $1,000 a year. The limit is $500 each on the returns of married persons filing separately.

Note that the 1969 Tax Reform Act did make some changes in the handling of capital losses. While short term losses are still fully deductible from ordinary income, only one-half of the excess of the net long term capital loss over the net short term capital gain is deductible up to the $1,000 maximum.

Q - My wife and I both work. Should we file joint or separate returns?

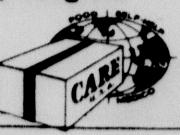

A - Usually, married taxpayers will pay less tax if they file joint rather than separate returns. Since there are situations where this is not true, figure your tax both ways to find out which is best for you.

Note that when separate returns are filed, deductions must be handled the same way on both returns. If one itemizes, so must the other. If the standard deduction is used, both must use the same type, either the percentage deduction or the low income allowance.

Mark Twain's Story

OF THE

READING SPIDER

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri newspaper.

One day he got a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his newspaper and asked if this was an omen of good luck or bad luck.

Twain wrote: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

You will find no spider webs across the doors of the merchants who advertise in your local paper.

Easter Seal Appeal Opens March 1 In Milam County

The 1971 Easter Seal Appeal will open in Milam County on Monday, March 1, according to William Kelm, who serves as Easter Seal representative for the county.

Kelm said that Easter Seal Appeal letters would begin arriving at homes in the county about March 1.

As Easter Seal Representative he is the local person to contact to request rehabilitation services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special information services to help solve the many problems faced by the families of handicapped children and adults.

Last year over 21,000 handicapped people received help from the Texas Easter Seal Society. With the costs of providing expert professional care rising, more money than ever will be needed.

Funds help support 20 centers in Texas, where crippled children and adults are treated, regardless of their ability to pay.

Walkers, wheelchairs, and related services are provided to those who cannot provide for themselves.

"The people of Texas have always responded generously to helping the handicapped, and I feel certain they will make it possible to increase Easter Seal services to crippled Texans throughout the coming year," Kelm said.

Library Offers Bibliographies

AUSTIN
Four current bibliographies are now available to the public from the Tarlton Law Library at The University of Texas.

The publications are designed to help students, faculty and the general public to keep informed on current developments in the law.

The bibliographies include:
A selected legal periodical survey from 1940 to 1970 on the Bill of Rights and military justice; a comprehensive list of material on student activism from 1963 to the present; a listing of writings on juvenile delinquency in Texas; and a checklist of Senate executive documents and reports listed in the Monthly Catalog of U.S. Government Publications for 1941-70.

The books may be obtained through a special service of the Cameron Public Library.

Dallas Rites Unite Miss Beard, Mr. Hall

Miss Martha Beard and Robert Martin Hall were married Saturday evening at Saint Michael's and All Angels Episcopal Church, Dallas. Rev. Donald Henning and Rev. David P. Comegys, Jr. officiated.

MRS. ROBERT MARTIN HALL

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Beard, Sr. of Hillsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall of Dallas.

The bride wore a formal gown in ivory polyester organza with venise lace trim. The Empire bodice with mandarin neckline and a short sleeve were entirely of the Venise lace. The short lace sleeve extended into a full bishop sleeve, cuffed with lace, which was of the sheer organza as was the voluminous full skirt. The chapel train was held by a Dior bow.

Mrs. Milton E. McDaniel, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Jane Ferguson, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Blake Hill were bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns in chestnut brown chiffon with a mandarin collar on an Empire bodice over a slim skirt, featuring slim bishop sleeves. A Dior satin ivory bow with belt noted the Empire line. The bow was again repeated in their hair.

Bud Fouts of Dallas was best man. Groomsmen were Jim Hightower and Blake Hull, both of Dallas. Ushers were Milton E. McDaniel of Richardson, brother-in-law of the bride, Tom Henderson Beard and E. D. Beard, Jr., of Hillsboro brothers of the bride, and Howard Driggers of Dallas. J. Russell Campbell of Dallas was acolyte. Organist was Paul Thomas.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Jim Riddy, Mrs. J. Russell Campbell Miss Patsy Cumbie, Miss Judy Peterson, Miss Sharon Ferguson, Miss Anna Grace Hall, Mrs. Hamilton M. Bonnett of San Antonio and Mrs. John B. Henderson Sr. of Cameron, aunts of the bride and Mrs. E. D. Beard, Jr. and Mrs. Tom H. Beard of Hillsboro.

Nieces of the bride, Kelly McDaniel, Carol Beard, Barbara Beard and Linda Beard distributed rice bags.

A graduate of Hillsboro High School, the bride attended Lindenwood College in St. Louis, Mo. She was graduated from the University of Texas where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta. She is presently an administrative assistant with Donohue Sales.

The groom, a graduate of SMU, is a certified public accountant. The couple will be at home in Dallas at 12717 Cranberry.

MRS. R. L. MIKULEC

Miss Roberts-Mikulec Married In Houston

Miss Shirley Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts of Houston and R. L. Mikulec, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mikulec of Cameron, were married at 2:30 p.m. January 30 at St. Charles Borromeo Church, Houston, with Rev. Joseph Schnider officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown beaded in pearls and lace. Her veil was of tulle with a head hugger of white satin and lace, beaded in pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white jack straws with two long stem yellow roses and centered with an orchid.

Miss Dot Adler of Houston was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Shelly Kelly of Houston and Pam Kebodeaux of Houston. They were dressed identically in moss green fitted bodices with mint green crepe floor length skirts. Each attendant carried a long stem yellow rose.

T. J. Mikulec of Cameron served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Larry Plentl of Houston and James Webb of Houston.

Kimberly Larson of Houston was flower girl and Benjamin Coy of Houston was ring bearer.

Ushers were Louis Abel of Belton and Tom McElligott of Dallas.

The bride's mother wore a light pink knit suit and the groom's mother wore a one piece turquoise embroidered cotton dress. Both wore orchid corsages.

A reception was held in the church parish hall where a four tiered wedding cake and pink punch were served. A 5 p.m. champagne luncheon honored the couple at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a wedding trip they will reside at 2301 Fountainview Drive, Houston.

The bride is a graduate of Sam Houston High School and attended Wharton County Junior College. She is employed with George Mitchell and Associates in Houston. Mr. Mikulec was graduated from Sam Houston State College with a BBA degree and is employed at The Superior Oil Co. in Houston.

Federal Meat Inspection Effects Texas Housewife

The United States Department of Agriculture announced recently that it would take over all meat inspection in the state, and this could have far-reaching effects on the Texas housewife.

The action came after Texas failed to comply with the Wholesale Meat Act of 1967 that said state inspection procedures must be "at least equal to" federal regulations.

The deadline for compliance was in December. When the USDA began inspecting packing plants in Texas, it was found that several had not met federal sanitation standards.

What does all this mean to the homemaker? Dr. Ed Uvacek of Texas A&M University says that she can be doubly sure of getting meat products that are sanitary and disease-free.

Many people have not been aware that up to now, part of the meat marketed in Texas was not inspected at all.

Federal law required certification only if meat was moved across state lines; and local packers with local markets were not subject to any kind of inspection they did not request.

Federal inspection has an interesting sidelight. Many of the small community slaughter houses and locker plants will have to either remodel their facilities or face closure.

Oftentimes, these small plants do not have enough business to

Greetings,

To Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kudlack of San Marcos, a girl, Lisa Dawn, 6 pounds 12 ounces, born Feb. 12 in Hays Memorial Hospital, San Marcos. Mrs. Kudlack is the former Miss Billie Cummings of Cameron.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy of Cameron, a girl, Gina Marie, 7 pounds 8 ounces, born February 16 at 11 a.m. in St. Edward Hospital.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Cluck of Texas City visited Mrs. Cluck's sister, Mrs. Josephine Story, who is a patient at Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

Dr. and Mrs. Gus Evans are vacationing in Mexico.

Luncheon guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brock last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lemm and Dr. and Mrs. Fernbach of Houston. Mr. Lemm, better known as Wally Lemm, until his recent resignation, was head coach of the Houston Oilers Football Team. Dr. Fernbach is associated with Baylor Medical School and is the co-author of a book to be published in the near future.

Matching Fabric To Pattern

By Christine Laws
County HD Agent

Matching fabric to the pattern is the first step in creating a stylish, well-fitting garment.

The key to proper fabric selection for a particular dress design lies within the silhouette.

If the silhouette stands away from the body in a bouffant or flared shape, the fabric used must have enough body or stiffness to repeat this shape. But if the silhouette clings to the body, conforming to its natural shape, the fabric should be soft and limp enough to fall against the body.

Between the two extremes -- bouffant and clinging shapes -- there is a straight tailored silhouette requiring a fabric with both flexibility and body. Such a fabric must hold the shape into which it has been molded.

The design of a garment, then, is not created simply by the way it is cut, but also by the way the fabric interprets the lines and shapes of the dress design.

Materials fall into four main types: stiff and wiry, crisp and firm, thick and bulky, and limp and clinging.

Taffeta, organdy gabardine and some wash and wear materials are examples of stiff wiry fabrics, which are best suited to bouffant or flared designs. Crisp, firm materials, including linen, chintz, muslin and gingham make good selections for tailored garments.

Thick, bulky fabrics, like velvet, terry cloth, fleece and suede, increase the apparent size of the wearer. They are normally used for straight-lined garments.

Chiffons, batiste, voile and some knitted materials are clinging, limp fabrics which hug the body and reveal the figure. They drape well in soft folds but would create little interest in straight, sheath-type dresses.

make remodeling possible; and will probably be closed permanently. This will probably end the community locker service that many small-town families depend on for meat storage.

Area Seniors Win Homemaker Awards

Awards for the 1971 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow have been announced for area high schools.

Jinny Jeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jeter of Cameron, was named for Yoe High School.

Lana Jean Cooksey, daughter of Mrs. Johnnie E. Cooksey and the late Johnnie Cooksey of Rogers, was chosen for Rogers High School.

The girls are chosen on the basis of scores on a Dec. 1 written knowledge and attitude examination for which 650,000 senior girls throughout the country were enrolled.

From General Mills, sponsor of the annual education program, the girls will receive a specially designed award, and will be eligible for state and national honors including one of 102 college scholarships.

1970 FOOTBALL SWEETHEART Gail Jeter is a cheerleader and a senior at Yoe High School. Yoe tri-captains presented the sweetheart bouquet and a traditional kiss at the annual Yoeman Football Banquet Monday night. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jeter of Cameron.

Chamber Says Texans To Pay $11 Billion Tax Bill

LONGVIEW
Texas taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $11,162,040,000 in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal spending budget of $229.2 billion proposed by President Nixon for the Federal fiscal year beginning July 1, 1971, according to an estimate today by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

This estimate was based on the regional chamber's calculations that Texas taxpayers bear 4.87 per cent of all Federal taxes.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce pointed out that any change which Congress may make in this budget will reduce or increase the amount that Texas taxpayers will have to bear depending on whether Congress cuts or spends more.

The $11,162,040,000 share which would be borne by Texas taxpayers to support the President's proposed budget (which is for only one year) is nearly 1 1/2 times the amount submitted by the Legislative Budget Board to operate all State agencies in Texas for the next 2 years.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce noted that the $229.2 billion spending estimate for fiscal 1972 represents an increase of $16.4 billion over the current estimate of $212.8 billion for fiscal 1971 which in turn exceeds the 1970 outlay total by $16.2 billion.

These two spending increases totaling $32.6 billion compare with a two-year increase of $17.8 billion from 1968 to 1970.

The chamber suggested that Congress should challenge and carefully study the future consequences of the "full employment budget" idea adopted by the President for 1972. This idea relates spending each year to revenues that would be generated under existing taxes and full employment rather than to actual anticipated revenues. It would permit sanguine acceptance to two successive deficits in 1971 and 1972 totaling $30.2 billion, or only $3.7 billion less than the two-year deficit of $33.9 billion in 1967 and 1968 which was a major factor generating the inflation of the last few years.

By Mrs. J. P. Wise

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ellis of Tyler visited Mrs. Webb Todd and Miss Sue Butts in Cameron Wednesday. They also visited in the Roy Newton home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Irby and Mrs. Bess Daugherty of El Paso spent the weekend with Mr. Irby's sister Mrs. J. P. Wise.

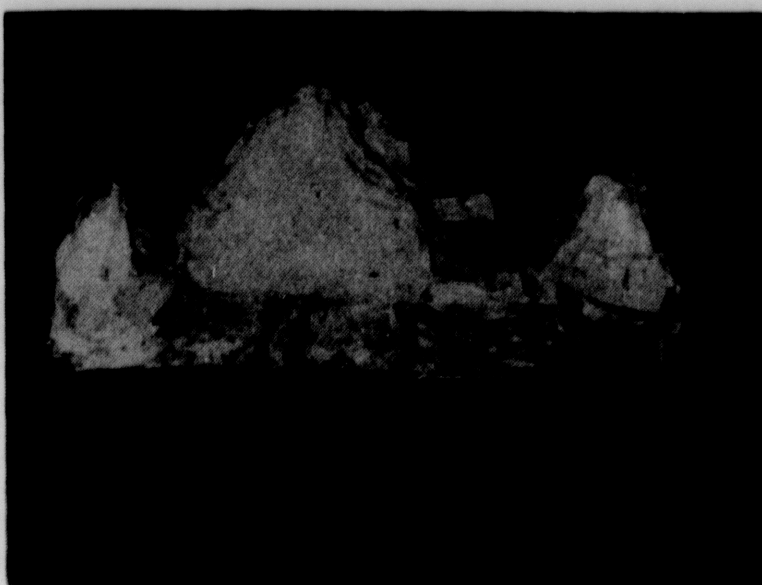

Mrs. Carl Cooper of Bastrop visited Mrs. W. C. Cooper Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Newton of Austin visited his parents the Roy Newtons during the weekend.

Mrs. E. B. Yager, Mrs. Bill Thweatt, Mrs. Roy Newton and Mrs. J. P. Wise attended the 42 party at Miss Katie Nisbetts Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Henderson of Austin are the happy parents of a baby girl. She arrived Friday the 12th and has been named Andrey Carla. Her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Yates went to Austin to visit her Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White and Miss Mary White of Dallas spent the weekend with their mother Mrs. Vina White.

EVER EAT A GLACIER? The eighth grade science class at Cameron Junior High ate this one. It was a unique science project designed and created by Linda Parker. She used cake mix and scads of frosting to show mountain peaks, valleys, and a glacier. One of the nicest things about it was that the whole scene, except for labels, made a delicious treat for the class.

Poage Sees Government 'Enlarging At All Levels'

Cong. W. R. Poage reported that the Agriculture Committee has started hearings on sugar legislation, and considered the Rural Telephone Bank Bill.

In his Feb. 10 newsletter, Poage said Congressional committees "never seem to reduce the number of bills awaiting their consideration."

He added that the business of government seems to "constantly enlarge at all levels and in all countries. Somewhere this process must be reversed or else we will find ourselves a completely socialistic state in which the government does everything for everybody."

At a White House breakfast, Cong. Poage said, the President and his advisors gave congressmen a briefing on his proposed avenue sharing and departmental reorganization.

"I am afraid that Mr. Nixon is leading us down the same path of bigger government that we have been traveling for so long," Poage continued. "He proposes even greater deficit spending and envisions the government assuming still further obligations for the performance of responsibilities which we have long looked upon as belonging to the individual."

School Tax Rate Hike For T'dale

Thorndale School trustees voted a 10 percent tax increase to begin with the 1972 tax roll. The increase was the first since 1964.

The present assessment is 30 percent, this will be increased to 40 percent on tax statements which will be mailed to district residents October 31, 1971.

A statement from trustees said there had not been an increase for maintenance and operating purposes since 1964, and a tax increase was inevitable since prices have been climbing for the past six years. "The board felt that this was the minimum increase that would allow continued operation of all present programs with adequate financing."

Commenting on the President's recommendation of stricter controls over the use of pesticides and economic poisons, Poage said he joined with Mr. Belcher on the Ag Committee in introducing the bill "by request."

The bill should be referred to the Committee and will be one of the "vital measures" for consideration this session, Cong. Poage said.

Is our future in the bag?

Some scientists give our planet thirty more years. Then population zero.

No mushroom cloud to ring down the curtain. Just pollution. Silent and simple-minded. Like people scattering trash. Paper. Glass. Plastic. Deadly trivia.

That's our destiny. Unless we change our ways. Government and industry are spending millions to do away with pollution. But there's one source of pollution they can't control. People. We have to do that job ourselves.

Your automobile is a good place to start. Don't throw trash from your car. And above all, don't forget the fundamentals... keep your engine in tune. You'll cut harmful emissions decisively. Change your oil and filter on schedule. Try the new, improved gas-oilines. Service your car's pollution control device regularly. If you don't have one, install one.

All these steps take a little effort. But they must be done. Now.

We have a thirty-year deadline.

AUSTIN
Official dedication ceremonies for the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library at The University of Texas have been set for May 22.

The eight-level structure of beige-colored Italian travertine is located near the eastern perimeter of the campus and is adjacent to UT's new Sid Richardson Hall and the Thompson Conference Center.

The Johnson library, one of six Presidential libraries in the Federal archival system, will be the national repository of the papers, documents, audio and visual records that encompass the entire range of former President Johnson's public career.

In all the world no monument is more famous than Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty. Standing on an isle in New York harbor, it is the symbol of a nation that enjoys the ultimate in political and religious freedom. It is our Americanism landmark.

Since 1886, the towering statue has been the first welcoming beacon for countless thousands coming to these shores to find a better life. The life of Liberty, of Freedom, the American way. The inscription on its base carries a potent message of promise as significant as the monument itself: "Give me your tired, your poor, Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, The wretched refuse of your teeming shore, Send these, the homeless, the tempest-tost, to me: I lift my lamp beside the golden door." Then, if we have in the past, may we never again take Liberty for granted. It wears a price tag.

March 31 Is Deadline For New Medicare Signups

Most people 65 and over have long since signed up for the doctor bill insurance part of Medicare. But Ray Ward, social security field representative, warns that for some who have not, March 31 of this year is the final deadline.

"If you were born after October 1, 1902, but before October 2, 1903," Ward says, "this is your very last chance to get this valuable protection. Also, if you were born in the last three months of 1903 or in 1904, or 1905, and misse an earlier opportunity to enroll, this general enrollment period is open to you."

Ward explained that every person reaching age 65 can sign up for the medical insurance part of Medicare, which is paid for by a monthly premium, during a period starting three months before his birthday month and ending three months after that birthday month.

Bill Asks Notice, Minutes Of Closed Public Meetings

A bill to require notice before and posting of minutes afterward concerning closed-door meetings of public agencies was heard by the House State Affairs Committee last week.

Closed meetings now can be held legally to discuss personnel, real estate or security matters. The bill, offered by Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls, would not ban these meetings, but would require notice in advance that they are to be held.

Within three days, under the bill, minutes sketching the action which took place in the closed meeting would have to be made public. The bill went to subcommittee for study.

But people who miss that initial enrollment opportunity generally have three more chances: the next three general enrollment periods, which are set by law during January, February, and March of every year.

The current period, closing March 31, is the last chance for those people who became 65 in the 12 months closing October 1, 1968.

The social security office in Temple can help these persons make their application by telephone. Ward states that if you will call 778-1861 immediate assistance will be given.

Noon Lions Program On Artic Circle

Dr. John Wright of Washington, D. C. was guest speaker for the Noon Lions Club meeting at The Texan Monday.

Dr. Wright, former USDA official and director of the Institute of Cotton Research and Technology at Karachi, Pakistan, was introduced by Mayor E. A. Perrin, program chairman. He showed slides of a recent trip to the Arctic Circle which included a timed sequence of the 'mid-night sun' and scenic views of Lapland.

During the business meeting, Jim Camp, chairman of the Lions Club Wilson-Ledbetter Park Improvement project, reported that engineers drawings for the park project should be completed within the next two months.

Baylor To Present Bach 'St. Matthew' On February 23

Johann Sebastian Bach's immortal religious masterpiece "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew" will be presented by the Baylor University School of Music at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 23 in Waco Hall on the Baylor campus.

Daniel Sternberg, dean of the School of Music, will conduct the 150-voice Baylor Oratorio Chorus, the Waco Boys Choir (prepared by its founder and director Daryl James), The Baylor Symphony Orchestra and soloists in the fifth performance of the St. Matthew Passion in Waco since 1950.

The soloists for the Waco performance include three professional singers: Ira Schantz, tenor, will sing the role of the evangelist. The others are William McGraw Jr., tenor, and David Blackburn, baritone.

There will be a general admission charge of $1 for students and adults. Tickets for the performance are on sale in the School of Music office in Roxy Grove Hall. Telephone requests may be made by calling (817) 755-1161.

Apollo 11 Ship On Texas Tour

The Apollo 11 command ship, the Columbia, that carried the first astronauts to land on the surface of the moon, will be on display in Austin, March 5 to 7.

The command ship, the Columbia, and a specimen of rock brought back from the moon, are being hauled from state capital to state capital on a 50-state tour in a 14-foot-wide van trailer.

The six-ton Columbia has been described as one of the most significant artifacts of our time.

Apollo 11 was launched from Kennedy Space Center on July 16, 1969, atop a Saturn V. Booster, with Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin, Jr., and Michael Collins aboard. Armstrong and Aldrin entered the lunar module, the Eagle, and descended to the moon's surface on July 20.

After a dusty walk that hundreds of millions throughout the world watched through the magic of television, Armstrong and Aldrin lifted off from the moon in the Eagle and rejoined the Columbia.

Buckholts

By Mrs. Edwin Gandy

We are glad to report that all that have been on the sick list are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilbert returned home Friday after spending several days with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. James of Freeport.

Visiting in the Edward Senkel home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Senkel and children from Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Thompson from Milano visited in the Ladis Marek home during the weekend.

Mrs. Ed Jurca is in Houston visiting her children. She came home over the weekend with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Janes and then returned back to Houston with them.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garey this week is their granddaughter, Kimberly Lane of Temple.

Mrs. Orba Arnold spent Sunday with her son and family Mr. and Mrs. Doyal Arnold.

Dalton Schrank of Cameron spent Monday in the Doyal Arnold home also.
